

Rachel Snow

Rachel joined the BSA as Head of External Affairs in April 2002. Previously she worked for Barclays where she sat on the Investment Management Executive Committee advising on communication issues.

Rachel regularly writes in a personal capacity on finance and politics for industry and political magazines.

She began her career working as an adviser to Mike O'Brien MP at the House of Commons where she covered the City brief in the Shadow Treasury Team and later the Home Office brief in Government. Rachel stood as a candidate in the 2005 General Election.